ENTERING AN IRON AGE ERA

MANITOBA'S STRONGEST MAN IS THE NEW WPW CHAMPION

Written by Sid Carreiro | Photos by Dwayne Larson

The biggest story to come out of WPW RUMBLE IN THE BURT was the crowning of a new WPW Champion, Tyler Colton. When The Canadian Hercules came back to WPW he said it was to get revenge on AJ Sanchez, but fans quickly realized that was all a lie. After his second match back, he attacked WPW Champion Bobby Schink from behind and made his intentions clear... he was coming for the title. After stealing the title and proclaiming himself champion, he paraded around Manitoba winning Strongman competitions and telling anyone who'd listen he was the rightful owner of the belt. Bobby Schink demanded a match to silence Colton and fans eagerly awaited their first match in WPW. After one of the most intense matches in WPW history, Tyler Colton came out on top and became the rightful, undisputed WPW Champion. We are now entering a new era, the Iron Age Era, the Tyler Colton era, and that WPW Championship doesn't look like it's going anywhere.

WILL CHEEKS GET CLAPPED AGAIN?

JOSH HOLIDAY LOOKS FOR REVENGE AT PAIN ACTUALLY RETURNS

Written by Denzel Gobert | Photos by Matt Duboff, Jenny Kostaskey

Josh "Cheeks" Holiday has had a long road in Winnipeg. After debuting at PAIN ACTUALLY in 2019, Cheeks was sidelined with a torn ACL after being driven through a table. He returned to WPW and fans were excited to see this next chapter in the young upstart's career. He was soon given an opportunity to win the IMPACT Championship when he answered Josh Alexander's open challenge. It was a hard hitting affair, one that left Holiday a more battle-tested competitor. He earned his first win in WPW when he teamed up with Red Hot Summer at GOING BROADWAY but he is still chasing his first win in singles action. At FIGHT AT THE MUSEUM, Holiday was excited to take on four other men in a Scramble match, but that wasn't in the cards. The debuting Michael Allen Richard Clark viciously attacked Cheeks on his way out to the ring, sidelining him for several months.

Cheeks made his return in THE RUMBLE IN THE BURT match and set a beeline for Clark, hitting him with a flurry of maneuvers before Clark was able to gain the upper hand and toss him out of the match, costing him a shot at the WPW Championship. Holiday hopes to get his revenge and his first singles win when he takes on Michael Allen Richard Clark at PAIN ACTUALLY RETURNS.

The question is... can Cheeks clap back?

WRESTLER SPOTLIGHT

Written by Elizabeth Mancini

The tandem of Bryce Bentley and Sammy Peppers have been on quite the roll since debuting in WPW in 2022. Sammy Peppers was well known to WPW fans for several years, debuting at the second WPW event, BARRCADE, in February 2019. Unfortunately he would go 0-4, picking up losses in a Half Pints Six Pack Challenge and three singles matches.

Fans could see a lot of potential in Peppers, but that just wasn't translating into wins on the big stage. But things changed when WPW returned in April 2022. WPW LOOK WHO'S WRESTLING finally saw the team of Peppers and Bentley join forces as Red Hot Summer and pick up the win, the first win for Peppers in WPW.

Things were heating up for Red Hot Summer, but it didn't come without adversity. Technical Difficulties, Moses the Deliverer and Rahim De La Suede, emerged and handed Red Hot Summer their first loss. Red Hot Summer evened the score and it was time for a rubber match but with the biggest stakes imaginable, the WPW Tag Team Championship. Red Hot Summer picked up the win and were crowned the very first WPW Tag Team Champions. Since then, they've defeated some of the best teams in Canada: The Billington Bulldogs, The Voros Twins, The Cannon Corporation, and now they have their sights set on Fresh Air. How long can the Boys of Summer hold onto their titles and keep their hot streak alive?

A HISTORIC NIGHT FOR WPW

OVER 1000 FANS ON HAND FOR RUMBLE IN THE BURT

Written by Bruno Schofield | Photos by Jenny Kostaske

It was a night many WPW fans will never forget. The RUMBLE IN THE BURT, October 7th, 2023, live from the Burton Cummings Theatre. The night started off with a first time encounter between mentor and protégé as AJ Sanchez took on Chad Daniels. After a fierce back and forth, Chad Daniels proved he did learn something from Sanchez, hitting him with his patented low blow and scoring the three count. Next up we saw a trios contest which pitted two of the top wrestling schools in North America against each other, The Clandestine Society vs. The Freelancers. Ultimately the trio of Laynie Luck, GPA, and Storm Grayson picked up the win over Michael Richard Blais, Steven Crowe, and Taryn From Accounting. Fans were then treated to an incredible match between NXT UK star Amir Jordan and 'The Real Deal' James Roth. Roth continued his 2023 undefeated streak and put away the British star. The WPW Tag Team Championship was on the line when Champions Red Hot Summer defended against social media sensation The Voros Twins. The Voros Twins can't remember who painted the Mona Lisa after the beating they took at the hands of the Boys of Summer. WPW Women's Champion Jody Threat faced her biggest challenge yet, in the form of wrestling legend LuFisto. After a battle that saw them fighting all over the Burton Cummings Theatre, Jody was able to put away her rival and retain her title.

THE RUMBLE IN THE BURT match had 15 men vying for the chance to fight for the WPW Championship at PAIN ACTUALLY RETURNS. The Rumble match featured an incredible line-up of WPW favourites and debuting stars. YTV's PJ Fresh Phil hit his first ever Canadian Destroyer, we saw the emergence of a new tag team, Australian Takeover, and it took five men to topple the monstrous O'Doyle. Mo Jabari and Zicky Dice kicked things off and were also the last two men in the match. After half an hour, Mo Jabari ended up being the last man standing and earning his shot at the WPW Championship. Seleziya Sparx then took on the undefeated Ava Lawless. Sparx gained the upper hand and choked out the Hellion and earned herself a future WPW Women's Championship match.

The main event of the evening was a WPW Championship match between Champion Bobby Schink and challenger Tyler Colton. Bobby started off with an intensity not yet seen by WPW fans, hammering the Canadian Hercules with a barrage of fists. Both men kicked out of each others signature maneuvers, Bobby's top rope leg drop and Tyler's powerbomb. It took a massive powerbomb from the top rope to put Schink away and Tyler Colton was crowned the undisputed WPW Champion. It was a historic night for Winnipeg Professional Wrestling, in a venue that has seen its fair share of historical wrestling, dating back over 100 years ago. We surely haven't seen the last of WPW in the Burt!

HERE TO RULE ASS!

BANG YOUR HEAD, WARHORSE IS BACK IN WPW

Written by Bruno Schofield | Photos by Dwayne Larson

Throw the horns up WPW fans, WARHORSE is back and he's here to RULE ASS! Armed with his trusty Slim Jims and massive biceps, WARHORSE is looking to pick up his first win in WPW after some difficult losses. The first time we saw WARHORSE in WPW he was taking on Rylie Jackson. The Young Gun Jackson used the ropes for leverage to pick up the win and ruined the Metal Gods debut. Next up was a match against the brash and cocky Chad Daniels. Daniels used a low blow and got the win.

WARHORSE is back and better than ever and looking to defeat three other men in a match presented by Half Pints Brewing's WPW PINFALL PILSNER. Can WARHORSE pick up the pinfall and RULE ASS?
